From 23 to 25 August 2019, Haflinger breeders will present their horses not only at a special show for horses of all ages, but also in a variety of different sports disciplines. Saturday afternoon will be all about the much-awaited Haflinger Show, which will take place against the picturesque backdrop of the racecourse. A team of international Haflinger judges nominated by the World Haflinger Breeding and Sports Federation will be in charge of evaluating all participating horses from foals to stallions.

In addition to the Championship tests in dressage, show jumping, eventing and driving, several new competitions for beginners and children will be introduced this year. There are also plans for a number of new special tests for Haflinger horses in three Western disciplines reserved for participants from the Czech Republic. Early on Saturday evening, a series of mounted games will provide a chance for children and young riders to demonstrate their skills in agility tests and show jumping competitions of up to 70 cm in height. For riders who actively compete with their horses but do not yet want to contend with the best riders and horses of the tournament, this year's edition will also feature a series of dressage and show jumping tests with a slightly lower degree of difficulty.
